

S00512 - Environmental issues

Series Number: S00512

Series Title: Environmental issues

Dates: 1986-2009, predominant 1988-1993

Extent: 0.72 m of textual records

Scope and Content: Series consists of records relating to Simpson's interest in environmental issues, in particular the intersection between the environment and business and development. Series includes general records containing articles, clippings and other resource material on various issues, such as the ozone layer and climate change, and particular regions. These also include records relating to discussions of sustainable development at the Western Business School, including course outlines. Series also contains records relating specifically to sustainable development, in particular speech notes, research, articles, clippings, reports, bibliographies and conference material. Lastly, series consists of records relating to Simpson's work with the Canadian-based International Institute for Sustainable Development (IISD), including interview notes, minutes, reports and papers.

Arrangement: Series is arranged into 3 sections: general records, sustainable development, and IISD. Files in each section are arranged alphabetically.

Other Notes: 1. Records relating to international development in general are located in S00504. The Memoir series (S00514) also contains related records.